ANNIVERSARY WEEK

WEST WARDSBORO.

Campaign to Raise $600.

A campaign to raise $600 for needed repairs on the West Wardsboro Baptist church has been started. Those repairs are necessary, because in its present condition the building cannot be insured. If the edifice is to be saved to the community and God's service, at least this amount must be raised. Of this sum about $100 is already in hand, and the Vermont Baptist State Convention will give $200, provided the other $300 is raised.

All subscriptions are void if the whole amount is not raised. Subscriptions should be sent to Rev. E. W. Johnson, box 45, West Wardsboro, Vt., or to R. E. Lyman, box 17, West Wardsboro, Vt.

Japan's foreign trade last year was unprecedented, as it showed a big balance in favor of exports.

Prince George of England, who is only 14 years of age, is an expert with knitting needles.

BRATTLEBORO LOCAL.

Master Albert F. ... will render a violin solo Sunday evening in the First Baptist church.

The next band concert by the First Regiment band will be given on the Brooks House balcony Monday evening at 8 o'clock.

The death of Miss Ellen Flanagan, sister of Cornelius Flanagan of this town, occurred early this month in St. Vincent's hospital in Portland, Oregon. The body was taken to La Center, Wash., for burial beside the body of a sister. She lived here a number of years, going west 10 years ago.

Henry William Harrington of Brattleboro and Miss Minnie Anne Phetteplace of Vernon were married this morning at 11 o'clock in their future home at 55 Chestnut street, Rev. Delmar E. Trout, pastor of the Universalist church, performing the ceremony. The mothers of the couple were the only witnesses of the ceremony.

The contractors for the Barber building have met with some difficulty in preparing to build the bank wall which is to serve to hold up the west side of Main street as well as to be a foundation for the front wall of the building. The heavy rains have washed down some of the material which was under the old sidewalk, and heavy shoring has been put in place to hold up the dirt. A part of the wooden walk laid in the street for the use of pedestrians has been fenced off as unsafe at present.

WESTMINSTER WEST.

Comes to Visit After 12 Years.

Mr. and Mrs. Harry Campbell of Great Falls, Montana, came Tuesday for an extended visit with Mr. Campbell's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Fred Campbell. Mr. Campbell had not been home before in about 12 years. He was married about five years ago. His wife's home was in Portland, Oregon, and it is her first visit East.

Mr. Campbell notes many changes here, especially among the people. There have been many deaths during his absence. Westminster West is glad to welcome back another son this "Old Home" summer for Vermont.

Sons and daughters from near and far have been coming all summer, but this one has come the farthest distance.

Ross Newell of West Wardsboro was a guest last week at Jerome Holden's. Gilbert Holden will enter the Bellows Falls high school this fall and work in Goodnow, Jewett & Bishop's store after school hours and Saturdays.

New Fashions

Brighten the Stocks of the Local Stores

Latest Styles in Coats and Suits Are Seen In a Tour of the Local Shops

A tour of the local shops in Brattleboro reveals many interesting views of the newest fashions in women's apparel.

The skirts are of the flaring type, in a tendency towards straighter and narrower lines. Fashion has leagued with Youth to give a smart, young-looking figure.

Plaits are introduced to give the straight figure without sacrificing the fullness.

Many of the waistlines are high, but those who have a figure not suited to the Empire skirt will be just as fashionably dressed when wearing a skirt with the normal waistline.

"Coats, too, are longer," says Mr. Houghton of Houghton & Simonds's, The Store That Sells Wooltex. "In them, too, plaits and the graceful flare effects are featured."

Suit jackets vary in length from 32 to 42 inches, the 34-inch length being among the most popular.

Separate coats show a wide sweep at the hem. Some have the upper portion of the figure made with fitted lines, while others hang loose and straight from the shoulders.

The two garments shown here illustrate the most favored tendencies in coats and suits.

The jackets and separate coats both rely upon their collars and cuffs for the novelty note.

Cape collars that button high when closed, or lie flat when open, are one of the chief style features.

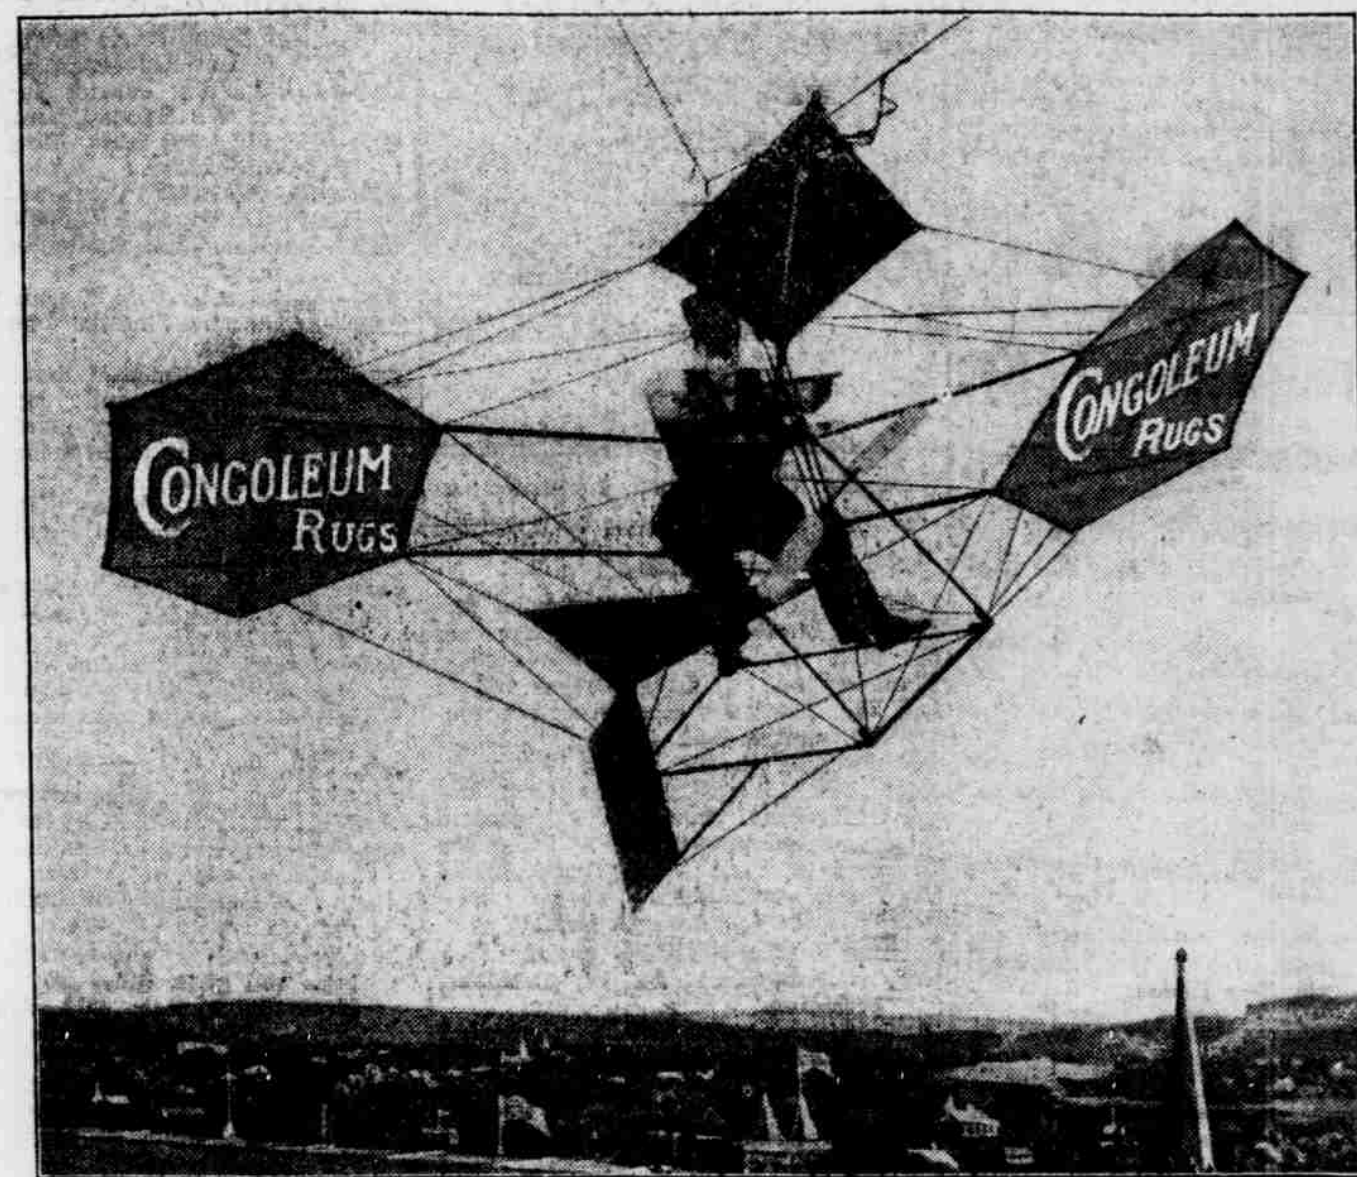

In cuffs, there is no end of the novelties. Some are big, flaring and bell shaped; others are very deep with fur and button trimmings; still others are broad and fastened with a very large button.

The display of materials is most interesting in its range and variety.

Broadcloths, velours, gabardines, Bolivia cloth, serges and whipcords are the most popular. The wanted colors are rich purples, gray, green, brown, Burgundy, and the ever smart navy blues and black.

was, for the first time in America, demonstrated as an attraction at the Harvard-Boston Aeri Meet.

There S. F. Perkins showed how easily a man could be sent 200 feet in the air supported by from 6 to 15 enormous passenger carrying Aeroplane War Kites, some 18 feet in height.

At Forest Park, St. Louis, S. F. Perkins ascended 350 feet, breaking all previous records.

At Los Angeles, S. F. Perkins ascended 400 feet and operated a wireless station for the first time from Man-lifting Kites.

During February, 1911, Mr. Perkins experimented actively with the Pacific Fleet, and for the first time in the history of the world an American Naval officer was sent by the kites 400 feet high, from the deck of the U. S. Cruiser Pennsylvania, while under full steam at sea.

As a climax, at the Nassau Boulevard Aviation Meet, over 350 Passengers were carried aloft on 15 Kites during one afternoon, including all Aviators flying at the Meet.
